

Private Instrumental Lessons

2021

Dear Parents/Caregivers

Investigator College is thrilled to provide students with the opportunity to learn a range of instruments in 2021. Lessons, which are provided during school time with a private tutor, range in price from $25-$30 per lesson. Experienced instrumental teachers currently have vacancies for tutoring students in a range of instruments. Please see overleaf for more information.

If your student is interested in learning (or continuing to learn) a musical instrument in 2021 we ask that you make contact with the relevant private instrumental tutor.

Lessons for other instruments (not listed overleaf) may also be available; in such cases, staff will endeavour to assist by finding a suitable tutor.

Please note that the private tutors, while being endorsed by the College, are not employees of the College and the agreement for tuition is made between the tutor and parents/caregivers. As such, students and parents/caregivers are responsible for matters regarding payment and attendance.

Yours sincerely

John Robinson
Principal

NOEL BAILEY

Mobile: 0414 866 130

INSTRUMENTS

Piano/Flute/Clarinet/Saxophone

Noel Bailey has taught piano and woodwind (clarinet, saxophone and flute) for many years, with experience in teaching Reception to Year 12 students. He has also had experience as a performer for weddings, in musical orchestras and stage bands, and as a piano accompanist for soloists.

"My love is to make lessons a fun time for my students and show them how to really enjoy and appreciate all types of music. I include incentives such as stickers and stamps for my younger students in particular so they can understand that practice creates enjoyment. I take pride in the fact that some of my former students have carried on to make music their career and many have kept in touch even after 10 or so years."

ANDREW TURNER

PETA QUILLIAM

Mobile: 0435 821 682

INSTRUMENT

Piano/Flute

Peta teaches both flute and piano, offering lessons to students from Reception upwards. She encourages students to learn a variety of music skills whilst playing the instrument, reinforcing their musical knowledge. Peta is well known for using "off-the-bench" theory activities. She encourages and assists students to perform whenever possible. Peta has previous experience in concert bands, orchestras, eisteddfods, duets and solo performances.

GUY MANSBRIDGE

Mobile: 0410 411 684

INSTRUMENT

Trumpet/Trombone

Guy was first sought out for local instrumental teaching 18 years ago and has been teaching music ever since. Having arranged music for several Investigator College musicals in years gone by, performing at the Adelaide Fringe Festival and in many other professional settings, Guy has transitioned to conducting the Granite Community Band since 2019 and instrumental teaching via GM Music since 2017. Guy has a broad musical experience and brings his passion to instrumental teaching specialising in Brass (trumpet and trombone). He aims to bring the most engaging and personalised approach for each student, using time-tested techniques with modern developments. Guy also teaches piano, composing, arranging and music theory. DON CROOK

Mobile: 0419 807 441

INSTRUMENT

Drums

Don has been teaching music for 40 years, over which time he has enjoyed success in both the professional scene playing in commercial bands, and also the classical field of performance with the Adelaide Symphony Orchestra. Don is passionate to see young musicians reach their full potential and he utilises the amazing technology available today, enhancing the learning process. It has always been a priority of Don's teaching style that his students not only really enjoy their lessons, but also work hard with their practice to produce great results! Don is also a Senior Facilitator of the "Drumbeat" program which assists young people to build resilience, gain confidence and have expression through the group drumming process.
